Slats' Diary

(By Ross Farquhar.)

Friday—Mr. Gillem was a telling tale that has brought all new spirit.

Plugs and new tires for his automobile and he luffed and said that nothing was the only thing that is left that was on are 2nd handford when we lost it is the exhaust pipe and the Morgan.

Sat.—Jonny Brent was sitting today if he be-lieved in long un-guessed. To a girl of the oppos-ing sex, and pa-sage.

after he had went and looked around to see if ma was in Eve dropping dis-tants he says Yes Jonny I believe in long inguements because the longer you are engaged the lesser time you got to stay married.

Sunday—the kid from Boston acts like as if he is too good for the rest of us and he won't have nothing to do with me because he says my pa is just a newspaper man. Well all I got to say is that the only differents between his pa and mine is that his pa is working on his second Million $ while mine is still hammering away on his 1st Million $.

Monday—Pa says the preacher at our church is a good preacher but he doesn't no very much about history because when he ist him what was the date when John L. Sullivan lost his last battle the preacher replied and answered he eudent just Xactly recall what War it was in.

Tuesday—Women have got sum funny idea a specially ma about how a fellow shud ought to warsh and ect. Ma always insists that I got to warsh the back of my neck and then at the same time she tells me it is very unpolite for a boy to turn his back on enny 1. How they going to see it if that's the case.

Wednesday—Went on a picknick with a lot of fokes today and had fried chicken and other things. Pa and me has decided that it is a good way to get up picknicks once and a while because when you go to eat where they are lots of outsiders you all ways get more to eat on acct. it looks better.

Thursday—Ma was reading Enick Arden which is a very sad come to me to nite and that is 1 pone I all ways like to have because it all ways makes my nose itch.

NOTICE! NOTICE!

We wish to give notice that we are carrying a large stock of hay wire, and also have plenty of Fulgum seed and in addition to our other lines. When you think of your needs in our lines, think of us and come to see us.

REGAL RECEPTION IS AWAITING THE EDITORS

FAIR AND BOARD OF TRADE TO JOIN IN FINE PROGRAM AT SAVANNAH SEPT. 24TH.

Editors and their business managers from every newspaper in South Georgia and South Carolina will journey to Savannah September 24th to be the guests of the Tri-State Exposition and the Savannah Board of Trade at a reception that will be unsurpassed by any entertainment given at Georgia's seaport city in some time.

The work of planning the program for the series of the two states has attracted considerable attention in Savannah's civic organizations, and it is with regret that they could not have more duties assigned to them than have been arranged by the joint fair and trade body steering committee.

There are two reasons for the editors' entertainment in Savannah at this time, the first is on the part of the Tri-State Exposition and the Board of Trade to show the appreciation for the unusual co-operation of the country papers in Savannah's zone in carrying feature stories of the fourth season of the Exposition. It has been realized a long time before that the papers in this territory have been instrumental in spelling the success of the Exposition this year, and before the gates are swung open the fair directors and the Board of Trade feel it incumbent that they should show their appreciation other than just a mere "Thank you," for such invaluable work. The second reason for the gathering comes from the whole community which wishes to become acquainted with the folk of the south country. It being felt that the newspaper editors are the pulse of these smaller communities. The Board of Trade requested to be "let in" on this program so that Savannah as well as the Tri-State Exposition might give the moulders of public opinion a regal welcome and show them that Savannah is interested in their welfare and prosperity.

The editorial writers and their managers have received a few days ago a personal invitation to attend this affair, accompanied by a proof of special editorial matrix taken from Savannah Press written for the occasion by the eminent typewriter character, "Bill Biffon," who is known in editorial circles as W. G. Sullivan. The invitations were sent from a joint Exposition-Board of Trade steering committee of twelve who have completed the details for the party.

The DeSoto Hotel will be the headquarters for the visiting editors on that day, but they will remain there only a few minutes as the reception committee will be waiting with their cars to start the travel that will not end until late evening. Everything in Savannah from the three-mile limit to the finest playhouse in the South, the Lucas Theatre, will come within the range of the "ink slingers" and it is safe to predict that they will have tasted only slightly the brand of hospitality that has put Savannah on the map.

From the hotel at 10 o'clock, the editors and their ladies will leave for the river where they will take two steamers for an inspection trip of the harbor up to the bridge and down to the Bell Buoy in Tybee Roads, which is an incommensurate distance from the imaginary spiritual boundary. This ride will end at the Fort Screven wharf at noon, and the "newbies" will be the guests of Capt. William Hones, commandant, who will entertain the party with an exhibition drill by men of the Eighth Infantry who served in Germany. The renowned Eighth Infantry band will render the music, and the joy-seekers will move to the south end of Tybes at 1:30, where a course sea shore dinner will be served at the Tybee Hotel. The band will then move to the hotel and be taken to the program of speaking.

After the meal, a "flying squadron" of automobiles, which will take the boats when they dock at Fort Screven, will take the visitors back to the city over the million dollar leg of the Dixie Highway with an exhibition drive. They will be shown points of interest, historical, recent developments, including magnificent concrete highways, and other resorts until 6 o'clock, when they will return to the hotel for supper. This will be followed by a theater party at the Lucas Theatre at 7:45 o'clock which will furnish a grand finale to a day of splendor and action.

It is expected that more than fifty editors will accept Savannah's invitation to be its guests on next Monday. The officers of the Georgia Press Association will be present as will one of the officers from South Carolina. The ladies who come on this trip will be entertained by a ladies' committee who have provided all conveniences and comforts for their enjoyment of the day.

BULLOCH COUNTY BOY HIKING IN VIRGINIA

Washington, Sept. 13.—Marching through the hills of Virginia with the East Coast Expeditionary Force of the U. S. Marine Corps, William Lassie Womble, formerly of Statesboro, Ga., is now taking part in a series of maneuvers, which began August 27th and will not be completed until October 27th, when the force returns to its base at Quantico, near here.

Many unusual features are being carried out in connection with the maneuvers, including visits to the Civil War battlefields at Waynesboro, Winchester and New Market. At the latter place an historic spectacle of the battle of New Market is being presented by the marines in conjunction with the cadets of the Virginia Military Institute. Football and baseball games, moving pictures, athletic and educational features alternate with military marches and battle practices.

The marines are following the circuitous trail to Waynesboro, in the Shenandoah Valley, and will return over a northern route by way of Winchester, the entire journey being over 300 miles. They will reach Washington about October 6, where another football game and a great military spectacle is scheduled to take place before the force returns to Quantico.

Womble is a son of Mr. George W. Womble, of Statesboro, and he joined the marine corps at Savannah last December. He is now attached to the 16th Company, 5th Regiment, Fifty-six marines from Georgia are taking part in the maneuvers.

SALE OF MILK COWS MEANS MORE BUTTER

SUCCESSFUL FARMERS WHO HAVE SOLD CREAM TO LOCAL DAIRY ARE BOOSTERS.

The ready sale of dairy cows in Bulloch county indicates the growing interest in butter production.

A carload of cows were shipped in from Middle Georgia last Friday by F. C. Parker. Saturday morning seven from the herd were driven out in one bunch by farmers who had bought them for dairy purposes.

The farmers were Jack Womack, Oscar Wynn and John Roberts, neighbors living near Portals. Mr. Womack bought five of the lot and the other two men one each.

In this connection it is interesting to note that Mr. Womack has been supplying cream to the local creamery here since its inception nearly two years ago. He has been milking from six to ten cows all the time, and at times his income from cream sales has been as high as $100 per month. The addition of five more cows to his herd indicates his faith in the business of cream production.

He raises the feed on his own farm and the cows gather it and convert it into golden coin of the realm. It was his success in this line that led his neighbors to follow in his wake. Mr. Wynn has a small herd of scrub cattle which he is disposing of to make room for milk cows. He reasons that the twenty-four scrub cattle he carries, and which are worth practically nothing to him as an income, are more expensive than eight or ten good milkers. He has bought a cream separator and is going to milk seven or eight Jerseys during the coming winter. Another neighbor, Jimmie Lee Jackson, has been selling cream from eight or ten cows for the past year. His monthly income has averaged around $8 per cow. He feeds the waste product to pigs and chickens and is enthusiastic on the subject of creamery.

The creamery spirit is gradually taking hold in Bulloch county.

ACTIVE CAMPAIGN AGAINST HOOKWORM

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH BEGINS RESURVEY OF BULLOCH COUNTY.

A hookworm survey was made in Bulloch county in 1912, and at that time 91.4 per cent of all the school children examined were found to be infected.

Hookworm disease is produced in the human when a number of small worms, about half an inch long and of a grayish color, are living in the small bowel. These worms suck the blood and produce a toxin which destroys the red blood cells. There are two types of this disease: One severe, the other a mild type. In the severe type the person is pale, has a swollen abdomen, is weak, short of breath. Sometimes their breath is so short they cannot walk any distance or exert themselves in any way without distress. In the severe type the child's growth is stunted and a seventeen year-old child may weigh only 70 or 80 pounds and is about as tall as an eleven or twelve year-old child. Occasionally the person may acquire a perverted appetite and eat clay, dirt, and other things which will eventually cause death. A child with hookworm disease often falls its grade in school because these worms are taking the nourishment which this child needs in order to carry on its work. They are thus slow to learn and to think when they have the severe type of this disease.

In the milder type the person may not present any symptoms at all visible or detected by its parents, yet they act as carriers for hookworm disease. How do these persons act? They are slow to learn and to think when they have the severe type of this disease. In the milder type the person may not present any symptoms at all visible or detected by its parents, yet they act as carriers for hookworm disease. How do these persons act? They are slow to learn and to think when they have the severe type of this disease.

When the hookworms live in the small bowel of the human, they lay thousands of eggs every day. When these are deposited in a moist, shady place, especially in the open back privies and when the temperature is favorable and the soil is warm, the eggs hatch and the larvae are ready to move about. They are very active, moving about on the ground much faster for their size than a snake. How large are these larvae? They are so small that they require a microscope to see them. This is one of the most deadly and dangerous enemies of the Southern school child, as they walk on these worms without knowing it and thus acquire a case of ground itch or dew poison or, too often, as it is often called. Every child having ground itch during any time of the year is a carrier of hookworm disease. Since he becomes a carrier, his ministrations have been marked by unusual energy, wisdom and originality. It is yet but two months until the end of the conference year, but it is freely predicted that the reports from all parts of the conference for the year, which will be made at the upcoming session in Savannah, will show that the present year has been one of the most successful in the history of Methodism in this section.

The Statesboro Methodist church is passing through a year of unusual progress. Considerable advancement has been noted in each of the various departments of the church work, and the coming of Bishop Ainsworth will undoubtedly stimulate the work of the church to an even greater extent.

Special music for the service Sunday morning will be furnished by the male quartet, whose singing is always greatly enjoyed.

The past year and membership of the church extended to all the people a most cordial welcome.

RETURNERS FROM ATTENDING CARRIERS' CONVENTION

W. H. Riggs, rural letter carrier from Register, returned last Friday from attendance upon the rural letter carriers' state convention at Americans. He made the trip through the country in his Ford, and was accompanied by his wife. They report a most enjoyable trip.

$44,000,000 CASH IS RAISED BY BAPTISTS

FUND MAKES POSSIBLE LARGE ADVANCE IN MISSIONS, EDUCATION AND BENEVOLENCES

IMPROVE CHURCH FINANCES

Dr. O. E. Bryan Will Direct South-wide Effort to Put All Local Churches on a Budget Basis

Up to May 1, 1923, the Baptist churches of the South had paid in cash the sum of $44,000,000 in the 75 Million Campaign, the five-year program for extending the general missionary, educational and benevolent work of the denomination. It is announced by the general headquarters of that movement.

This sum was contributed by the various states of the Southern Baptist convention, as follows: Alabama, $1,590,637.35; Arkansas, $1,331,592.65;

DR. O. E. BRYAN
Director for Southern Baptists

District of Columbia, $202,543.15; Florida, $732,217.90; Georgia, $4,015,008.82; Illinois, $329,087.87; Kentucky, $4,907,270.93; Louisiana, $1,144,395.79; Maryland, $555,555.55; Mississippi, $2,232,893.47; Missouri, $1,422,453.68; New Mexico, $217,825.33; North Carolina, $3,630,995.83; Oklahoma, $1,173,751.19; South Carolina, $3,516,855.19; Tennessee, $2,953,020.00; Texas, $6,468,098.42; Virginia, $4,822,225.34. Specials: Louisiana, $110,045.15; New Mexico, $410,739.15; Oklahoma, $15,000.00; Illinois, $105,175.11; Kansas, $105,175.11; Missouri, $105,175.11; Nebraska, $105,175.11; North Dakota, $105,175.11; South Dakota, $105,175.11; Utah, $105,175.11; Vermont, $105,175.11; Washington, $105,175.11; Wisconsin, $105,175.11; Wyoming, $105,175.11.

These larger resources have made possible large advances in every department of work fostered by Southern Baptists. Indicating the growth in the homeland during the campaign period, it is announced that there has been a gain of 47 district associations, 181 active ministers, 3,009 local churches, 3,257 Sunday schools with 459,223 pupils, 8,688 Baptist Young People's Unions with 235,317 members and 7,084 Women's Missionary Union organizations. During this time there have been 762,850 persons baptized into the local Baptist churches, 445,063.18 has been invested in local church property, and the increase in offerings to missions and benevolences has been more than $45,000,000 over the corresponding period preceding the campaign.

Among the many gains on foreign mission fields are included: 34,244 Baptists, 316 churches, 1,300 mission stations, 25 houses of worship, 53,666 members, 687 Sunday schools with 11,292 pupils, the sending out of 275 new American missionaries, the appointment of 2,029 native workers, entry into six new foreign countries and the larger equipment for all forms of work on sixteen fields.

Workers of the Home Mission Board have baptized 173,692 persons during the campaign period, have received 277,953 persons into the membership of local churches, enlisted 11,772 young persons in definite forms of Christian service, built or improved 1,872 church houses, organized 335 churches and 2,882 Sunday schools.

Stabilize Church Finances
To reach the original goal it will be necessary for Southern Baptists to raise $21,000,000 additional for the campaign program by the end of that movement in 1924. In the hope of bringing the churches of the denomination to a better system of financial realization of their obligation to support religious work, the Campaign Bureau has employed Dr. O. E. Bryan of Atlanta, superintendent of evangelism and enlistment of the Home Mission Board, as stewardship and church budget director.

Dr. Bryan has assumed his new duties and working through the various state offices and the agencies of the district associations he is seeking to bring the Baptist churches of the South to the adoption of a yearly budget for both their local work and the general missionary and benevolent interests of the denomination, the aim being to enlist every member of every church in weekly and monthly contributions to religious causes.

(Statesboro News, Sept. 15, 1923.)

Rev. T. J. Cobb has been quite sick. One edge of the Florida coast storm struck us yesterday.

Mrs. David Mincey suddenly died at her home near Brookline.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dutton have returned to their home at Mascotte, Fla.

Supt. H. B. Grimsbach has measured 31.6 miles between Statesboro and Cuyler.

The new county school census discloses an increase for the past five years of 27 per cent, the largest gain in the state.

The water courses throughout the county have been so full for the past few days that many have been unable to come to Statesboro.

Judge Moore has fixed the tax levy for the year for county purposes at $5.00 per $1,000. The rate is 50 cents less than last year. The total county and state tax rate will be $10 per $1,000. The tax values of the county are $3,600,000.

The federal prohibition office of Pennsylvania has submitted to Federal Prohibition Commissioner Haynes information as to the arrests for drunkenness and disorderly conduct in several Pennsylvania cities for the average of four years before prohibition as compared with the average three years since it became effective.

The director states that the making of current vital statistics a permanent record by public officials is a comparatively new enterprise and that the figures obtained are not uniform because officials in some cities do not keep the records for all of the years, while others did not begin to compile such statistics until recent years.

Alcoholic addicts admitted to the mental hospital in the state fell from 130 in 1917 to 50 in 1922, while drug addicts fell from 29 in 1917 to 8 in 1922.

In spite of the large increase in population and the fact that in 1917 there were more than a million American young men in Europe, the number of deaths from all causes has materially decreased. In 1917 the deaths in Pennsylvania numbered 128,163. In 1922 the deaths numbered 109,894. The data for 1922 is not yet available.

Life insurance in force increased $844,234,444 in 1921 over 1917. The increase in fire insurances in 1921 over 1917 was $5,109,994,780. Complete reports for 1922 have not yet been filed.

The average daily attendance in schools has grown, reaching the total of 1,437,842 in the school year of 1921 and 1922.

A statement of the Commissioner of Banking in Pennsylvania shows very satisfactory increase in bank accounts. The total deposits on October 18, 1922, were $1,762,672,207.12, while on December 11, 1917, the deposits were $1,295,349,512.63. The number of depositors reported had increased 308,700.

Non-support cases brought to the municipal court of Philadelphia in 1919 numbered 4,106, while in 1922 there were but 1,878 such cases.

APPPOINTMENTS.
Elders A. R. Strickland and V. Y. Sperry will be at Ashes Branch Monday, Sept. 24th; Mount Carmel, Tuesday, Sept. 25th; Lower Mill Creek, Wednesday, Sept. 26th; Upper Mill Creek, Thursday, Sept. 27th; Bethlehem, Friday, Sept. 28th. Saturday and Sunday at Canoe Creek general meeting, five miles north of Clayton, Ga.

ADAPTABILITY OF THE PINEAPPLE PEAR

The pineapple pear is the fruit best adapted to the southern states, and primarily for the coastal plain region; that is, the region that includes the eastern part of South Carolina, the lower half of Georgia, all of Florida and the lower parts of the states of Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

The extensive planting of this pear will be confined to this section for two reasons. First, because of the soil adaptability. A deep, loose, porous soil is best suited for it. While fertilization is necessary, the response is not so marked as with most other fruits. The clayey and rocky soils of the Piedmont and Appalachian regions, and further north, are not well suited to the fruit. The pear likes an abundance of water, but it detests "wet feet."

The second reason why this pear will be confined to the southern zone is because of the susceptibility to late winter freezes. The tree goes into the annual rest period early in the fall, blooms out early in the spring (by March 1st), grows rapidly, and ripens the fruit by August. When it is taken out of the region outlined above, it is in serious danger of suffering more than half of the crops to late winter freezes.

Attempts are being made to introduce the pear into the region around the Great Lakes, on the north side.

But sufficient progress has not yet been made to draw conclusive results. It is being tried in Texas with partial success; but probably that region is lacking in sufficient moisture for the pear to thrive there. It is being experimented with in the state of Oregon, with almost failure. Nurserymen are propagating it in the state of Tennessee, but no data is yet available.

The trees should be set forty feet apart, preferably in checks, 30 to 40 feet wide and 100 to 150 feet long. For the first four years the pear orchard should be trained, pruned, and cultivated similar to an apple orchard. A mature orchard may be covered cropped with cow peas and beans similar to a model peach orchard. It is not recommended to add the pear orchard.

If one is planning to set trees of this variety next fall, he should be sure that he gets trees of the pineapple pear variety; that is, accept no substitute whatever. There are only a few nurseries in the south that are as yet propagating the new variety (a list of these may be had from the Georgia Experiment Station). If a nurseryman has a pear that he is in doubt as to whether or not it is of this variety, and if he will send specimens of the fruit and leaves to the Georgia Experiment Station, Griffin, they will be promptly identified.

BULLOCH TIMES

AND
THE STATESBORO NEWS
D. B. TURNER, Editor and Owner.
Entered as second-class March 28, 1905, at the postoffice at Statesboro, Ga., under the Act of Congress March 3, 1879.

THE STEADY SUBSCRIBER.

Dear to the editor's heart is the steady subscriber—the man who stays with him year after year, and says kind words of him when he renews and kind words of him when out of his presence.

More valued than one subscriber are two, or three, or four, or any other multiplied number. More valued even than he is that one who brings in his friends and his neighbors to subscribe with him and to say kind things and bestow friendship. And still more valued is that one who brings his own household up to appreciate the old home paper, and they, patterning after him, add their names to the list of editor's friends and supporters.

The Times has been running now almost a third of a century. Most of the subscribers on our lists are persons who were school children when we began. Many of them were even a large part of them—were then unborn. It impresses the editor with a deep sense of responsibility when he looks over his lists to find that those who make up his patronage list were the little sons and daughters of those who were his patrons when he began the work. Worth of note, particularly, is the family of Judge J. F. Brannen, honored friend and esteemed citizen of Statesboro. Thirty years ago he was a comparatively young man living in his country home in the Briarpatch district. A copy of the Times went to his home, and it was appreciated by the little children of the home. Today we are looking through our lists and are impressed to find that seven of Judge Brannen's children are subscribers in their own name. Added to his, we find eight subscribers in one family. Do you count it odd that there should exist a deeper sense of appreciation for the loyalty that has ripened through all these years? Do you count it odd that, with the educational advantages the father has given the children, what they should rank well in the business and social world? All the more, then, do we count it an honor that these seven sons and daughters should still cling to the old home paper and look eagerly from week to week for its coming. Since we have gone thus far in the subject, we are sure that our readers will be interested to know who these seven young friends are, and we give their names and addresses in response to that interest: Jesse E. Brannen, banker, Westwood, N. J.; Shell Brannen, banker, Milford, N. J.; Bill A. Brannen, farmer, Stillson, Ga.; Cliff Brannen, physician, Atlanta; John P. Brannen, student, Athens; Mrs. P. A. Brinson, educator, Millen, and Miss Ouida Brannen, educator, Burnsville, N. C. Two other daughters, the youngest of the family, are following in the same path. Miss Lena Belle being engaged in teaching at Perry, Ga., and Miss Nellie Ruth a student at Wesleyan College.

And that is a family any parent might well rejoice in. It is a group of friends any editor might well feel honored to claim.

COULD BE WORSE.

Hon. Mills B. Lane, the Savannah banker, has brought down from his dearest heart more or less of a storm because of his recent published declaration that the farmers of Georgia are not in as bad shape as they imagine they are. Indeed, he is credited with having asserted that they are in better shape than they ever were before. It was this last statement which seems to have caused the storm.

We have not seen any sort of an answer from the banker to his critics, and we do not know exactly what he had in mind when he made the statement. We imagine, however, that he could be able to find words to at least in a measure defend his position. It may be that his own idea would not be so much that the farmer is in better shape financially as that he is richer than ever in experience and common sense. Experience is a good thing and is always worth all it costs provided it doesn't cost too much. It is the only lesson from which people take wisdom. Many do not even absorb these lessons as they come along; and in that event it takes several to teach the lesson.

The farmers of Georgia (and, indeed the people of Georgia as a whole) acquired some false ideas during the war period of prosperity. They convinced themselves that prosperity and ease are permanent things, and that work and economy are non-essential. The farming class, perhaps, went no further astray along this line of error than the average citizen—possibly not so far. Five hundred dollar bales of cotton and two dollar corn seemed to impress one with the assurance that what for the future was impossible and that debts were small things to contemplate. It was a time for hoarding, but many put off the saving till a more convenient day. They learned how to live like kings, and assumed that luxury was a thing of permanence.

The lesson the people learned was a false one. The more of it they learned, the further wrong they went. It was that lesson which is now being uprooted. The people are taking more seriously the solemn fact, forgotten for a time, that success can only be attained by slow and steady grinding. All the people are learning this lesson. The farmers are learning it along with the rest of us, and they are faring better under the lesson than the laborer who went wild in his habits and tastes while the wave of prosperity was on. They are faring better than the speculator and the business man who depended upon his skill or trade. Comparatively the farmer is still in better shape than the rest of us. He must assuredly be if he has raised food crops and feed crops; if he has contracted no debts except those that were absolutely necessary.

It may be that Mr. Lane did not mean to assert that the financial condition of the farmer is better than ever; but that his store of experience has enriched him, and that he is in better shape from that standpoint if he will apply the wisdom he has bought so dearly. Whatever he may have meant, it is certain that the farmers of Georgia are not going hungry, nor are they yet going without the actual necessities of life. They are a long way from disaster, though they may begin to feel frightened for the future. The wise farmer has learned, as have wise men in other spheres of life, that the man who is really well off is that one who is content to do without the things which he does not absolutely need, waiting and storing up for the rainy day which is almost sure to come in a life time.

This new lesson we are being taught is the old lesson of economy which we forget so easily and happily when the opportunity invites us to forget it.

KEEP THE BOY IN SCHOOL.

Recently Dr. Carlwell Ellis of the University of Texas, at the request of the United States Bureau of Education, made research to find if possible, what "schooling" means to the average boy or girl in dollars and cents. This is what he discovered:

Every day spent in school pays the child $9.25.

Here is the proof, based on the wage scale of 1913:

Uneducated laborers earn on the average of $500 per year for forty years, a total of $20,000.

High school graduates earn on an average of $1,000 per year for forty years, a total of $40,000.

This education required twelve years of school of 180 days each, a total of 2,160 days in school.

If 2,160 days at school add $20,000 to the income for life, then each day at school adds $9.25.

The child that stays out of school to earn less than $9 a day is losing money—not making money.

This gives some idea of the value of the days spent at school. The figures will be surprising to many and convincing to those who want to give serious consideration to them.

PRETORIA SCHOOL OPENING.

The Pretoria school will open on October 1st. The teachers will be Miss Hattie Davis, Miss Ruth Kimes and Miss Isabelle Hall.

There will be a working at the school house on September 26th. All patrons are expected to be there.

GEORGIA LEGIONAIRES GOING TO CONVENTION

Atlanta, Sept. 18.—Atlanta Legionnaires are making big plans for sending a rousing delegation of Georgians to the national convention of the American Legion which will be held in San Francisco.

A joint rally of all the legion posts in the city has just been held at the legion hall. Mayor Sims was the principal speaker.

The Atlanta Post No. 1, of which B. P. Bambrell, prominent attorney is the commander, is now the largest post in the South. Two other local posts, William D. Coleman Post No. 51 and Thomas Ross Post No. 78, have recently consolidated with the Atlanta post.

I will be recalled that the Georgia legionnaires made a tremendous bid at the last national convention, carrying off a membership cup for having shown the largest increase of any other state in the union. Commander Gambrell said today that Georgia will be largely represented at the Pacific coast convention.

EDUCATIONAL MEETING HELD IN STATESBORO

A conference of educational workers from the counties adjoining Bulloch was held in Statesboro yesterday, at which were present members of the boards of education and county school superintendents from nine other counties. The counties represented were Bulloch, Emanuel, Effingham, Jenkins, Screven, Camden, Tattnall, Liberty, Evans and Long. There were sixty-six in the party. The conference was called by direction of State School Superintendent N. H. Ballard, and was for the purpose of discussing school matters in general. Representing the state educational interests were Supervisors J. O. Martin, J. S. Smith, Geo. D. Godard, E. A. Pound, W. B. Hill, M. L. Duggan and Miss Caro Lane.

The meeting was held in the court house in the forenoon. At the noon hour the visitors were entertained at a barbecue at the fair grounds by the Statesboro Ad Club. Counting visitors and members, there were more than 125 present at the dinner.

TWO CARS DAMAGED IN HEAD-ON COLLISION

When the cars driven by W. S. Preterorius and E. C. Oliver met in collision Tuesday evening on the highway between Brooklet and Statesboro, serious consequences were narrowly averted. The Preterorius car was badly damaged about the radiator and front axle. A front wheel was torn off the Oliver car. Riding with Mr. Oliver was Dr. Durence. Mr. Preterorius had his wife and child in his car. No one was hurt.

HOLLINGSWORTH—BRANNEN.

The marriage of Miss Bertha Hollingsworth to Mr. Ernest E. Brannen was quietly solemnized at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Sept. 16, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hollingsworth, at Dover. The event was one of much interest to a wide circle of friends.

The bride wore a nonpareil traveling dress of dark blue point with a white lace collar and accessories to match.

The bride is an accomplished and popular young woman. The groom is a young man with splendid business qualifications and has many friends in this section of the state. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Brannen, near Metter.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Brannen left for a bridal trip through Florida. They will return to Millen, where they will make their home.

FOR MR. DAVIS.

Miss Lillian Zetterwer delightfully entertained on Friday evening at her beautiful country home near Denmark, in honor of her uncle, John H. Davis, of Barcelona, Spain.

Music was rendered on piano and violin by Misses Parsons and Lightfoot. The house was decorated with cut flowers and pot plants. Tables were arranged on the porch for cards. Progressive conversation was also enjoyed. An ice course was served late in the evening by little Misses Lauree DeLoach and Grace Zetterwer. Peanuts and grapes were served also.

Those present were Misses Manona Alderman, Eunice Parsons, Madeline Lightfoot of Augusta, Nannie Lou DeLoach, Thelma Wilson, Maude Cowart, Orrie Hendley, Katie Maude DeLoach, Myrtle Miller, Eula Waters, Lucile Denmark, Katie Hendley, Mattie Anderson, Ruby Denmark, Alma Anderson, Addie Nevils, Eula Mae DeLoach, Gladys Groover, and Messrs. HAVE YOUR CHILD EXAMINED FOR WORMS..

The State Board of Health is Eradicating the Hookworm Which is a Common Cause of Poor Health Among the School Children of the South.

Hookworm disease causes children to look pale and sallow and to have a "pot-belly," to feel tired and lazy, and to be slow to think and slow to learn, it stunts the child's growth, depriving him of a robust, vigorous, manly body and makes him liable to other diseases, such as typhoid fever and tuberculosis.

There are two types of the disease: First, those with a very heavy infection as described above. Second, those who don't look sick; but both types spread the disease.

Is your child in the clutches of this disease? Or does he spread it? The State Board of Health wishes to examine all school children between the ages of 6 and 18 years, and has secured the services of a worm specialist to examine your children. He will meet you at the following places on the corresponding dates. The examination is FREE.

EVERYTHING ON FARM
AT TRI-STATE FAIR

FARMERS' AND BREEDERS' DAY
WILL BE GALA OCCASION IN ALL DEPARTMENTS.

If the farmers or those interested in agriculture or livestock call to visit the Tri-State Exposition on farmers' and breeders' day, Thursday, November 1, they will miss a program that not only has been designed especially for them, but which should prove very beneficial as the farm will reign supreme in every activity and demonstration on the grounds. This will be the day on which the farmers and breeders will have high-jinx, and everything else necessary for them to make the day an enjoyable one.

Everything from the apical to the pig pen will be the center of attraction on this day—in fact farmers' and breeders' day will be the apex of the week in such circles. It will be the time when the boys of the American business club look arms with their country brothers and study their exhibits together. This day will be marked by the annual cattle parade that has attracted such attention both from consumer and breeder alike.

Among the speakers on the program, who will have a genuine message for the farmer and his associates, will be W. N. Mitchell, general southeastern freight agent, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, whose headquarters are in Atlanta. He will come down to Savannah for this day to deliver a short address on "The Mutual Interests of the Shippers and the Railroads." Mr. Mitchell will give his message in the early afternoon so that nothing will interfere with the regular program.

The fair at Savannah is primarily based on the farm products. This is shown in a brief review: A products show in the Johnson building that will be composed of twelve county exhibits besides the individual exhibits; grain and grasses exhibit of the first held in Savannah; Georgia and South Carolina tobacco, the largest in this section; bees and honey products, everything from the apical; tractor and implement show, exhibit of every labor saving device for the farm; poultry and pigeon show, 2,500 birds on display; sewing exhibit that has grown too large for the buildings used last year.

Among those mentioned, the swine bookings have been larger than was ever thought and the exposition management has rented a new tent measuring 100 feet by 135 feet that will furnish ample accommodation for 450 head. This tent will be erected near the old building, and the visitors can go from the shed to the tent in a few steps. The implement show has also necessitated further preparations as there is not sufficient room in the buildings for such a demonstration. The canvas spread that will house this show of everything modern in mechanical device for the farm measures 60 feet by 30 feet and will be equipped with electric lights, the power being furnished by portable generating sets.

There is only one fear felt by the management—the cattle barn is far too small. There will not be sufficient room to house the herds that will come at the twelfth hour from other fairs because the reservations made weeks ago have left but little space in the building. Arrangements are being made now to have some of the cattle show under another large tent. However, this has not been settled.

One thing that will spell the success of farmers' and breeders' day is the personal invitation that will go to 15,000 motor car owners in Georgia and South Carolina from the fair office. These cards have been printed to attract the attention of Mr. Farmer, before he makes any engagements that will prevent his coming to Savannah fair week.

Lucas Theatre is Georgia's prettiest

The Lucas Theatre in Savannah is now declared the prettiest theater in the state. Those who have seen it since its opening for the season on Labor Day have been much pleased with it. The Lucas, which has been given over entirely to pictures in the past, is now presenting high class

hookworm resurvey here

will soon be completed

The hookworm resurvey of Bulloch county will soon be completed. A number of the schools have been visited and every one has had the opportunity of a free examination. Persons having containers are requested to return them by Saturday, September 29th. The parents of the children will be notified by letter concerning the results of the examinations. Please do not expect to see these specimens until about the middle of October. There will be a typewritten copy of all examinations in Bulloch county in the office of the county school superintendent, Mr. J. W. Davis, at the court house. If your letter is lost in mail, then you can call to see Mr. Davis and he can give you this information.

In the school, sealed letters will be mailed to the superintendent, and he will distribute these to the children in that school. The results will be enclosed in these letters. Students will be requested to give these letters to their parents. Those infected with hookworm or any other intestinal parasite are advised to see their family physician for treatment.

BROOKLET GIN DAYS.

Beginning second week in October, we will gin Thursday, Friday and Saturday of each week.

BROOKLET GINNEY.

(27 Sept 1923)

PROSPECTS BRIGHT
FOR COMING FAIR

WITH OPENING DATE HARDLY A MONTH AWAY, PLANS ARE RAPIDLY MATURING

The Bulloch county fair will open Tuesday, October 23rd.

With the assistance of the usual good farm displays and live stock and poultry, together with the fine displays put up by the school communities, there is every hope of having a fair this fall that will be worth your while to come and see. The school community displays will be under the supervision of Prof. J. W. Davis and Miss Eunice Lester, who will co-operate with the various districts competing for the valuable prizes. This feature alone has been worth a trip to the fair, and it will be up to the high standard of the past.

The fair grounds and buildings are being put into fine shape now, and all receiving exhibits and all essentials to go to make a real county fair.

The race track has already been rebuilt and is now being used to train the racers that will enter the racing attractions, which should be as good as ever held here. A race meeting has already arranged to come. This feature will be up to the standard or better.

In the way of amusements, there will be a big carnival company that has many shows and two full brass bands, together with the usual free attractions. The fair association has secured for the entertainment of visitors the famous maintenance fiddlers, headed by "Fiddling" John Carson. This band of entertainers will have as much in the way of real entertainment as one will care to have in one day, and they will have this in that one day that they will see the small price of admission at the gate. Let all of the people plan to attend our fair this time. It will be worth your time and it will be of real profit.

Thursday will be, as has been our custom for many years, Savannah day, and the day of all days will be Friday, which is school children's day. We urge that parents and teachers begin to plan now that all our school children are permitted to come to the fair on this day. The children will enjoy the day and they will learn more in that one day than they will in many days elsewhere.

There will not be a dull moment—something new to see everywhere you go. Music to entertain you and plenty to eat and drink right within the fair grounds at prices you can afford to pay. Farmers who desire to put in farm displays will please notify L. A. Atkins, secretary, right away. Ample space will be given to all who desire to make an agricultural display.

School displays will be in the space already allotted for such purposes.

Respectfully,
L. A. ATKINS, Sec. & Treas.

METHODIST SUNDAY-SCHOOL
TO OBSERVE ORPHANS' DAY

The Sunday-school of the Methodist church will observe orphans' day next Sunday. This is an annual event, not only in the local Sunday-school but in all the schools throughout the South Georgia conference.

There are in the Methodist orphanage at Macon about 150 orphan children who are sheltered, clothed and educated by means of the contributions made from year to year by the Methodistists of South Georgia. The orphanage is one of the best and most successfully managed of all such institutions in this part of the country.

Every officer, teacher and pupil of the school, as well as others, will be expected to make contributions next Sunday morning for the maintenance of this institution. As much as can be expected to contribute the proceeds of a whole day's work to this worthy cause.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Rev. A. M. Williamson, assistant pastor of the Independent Presbyterian church, Savannah, will preach next Sunday, both morning and evening, at the Statesboro Presbyterian church.

SAVANNAH'S BIG FAIR
IN BIG MEN'S HANDS

SAVANNAH ZONE EDITORS ARE GUESTS AT A DAY'S FESTIVITIES MONDAY.

When the list of the party of Savannah zone newspaper men turned their faces homeward from Savannah at a late hour Monday evening, it was with the proverbial "end of a perfect day."

The management of the Savannah Tri-State Exposition had invited the newspaper men to be their guests for the day, with the statement that they wanted to show them something. The newspaper folks were Missourians and the many interesting exhibits in Savannah, terminating at the DeSoto Hotel, where, at 7 o'clock, the eating fest was brought to a close in the little room where a most delightful dinner was served. Cornelius Moore directed the affairs and another short program of talking followed. Besides Mr. Moore, others who responded were President Moorehouse of the exposition company, Editor Sullivan of the Press, President Rountree of the Press Association, J. D. McCartney of the Central of Georgia Railway, Gordon Chapman of the Sanderville Progress, and D. G. Bickers, the sweet singer of the Morning News who made the visitors an affectionate "good night." Lewis Atkins, secretary of the Bulloch County Fair Association, was present and responded happily to the opportunity to speak in behalf of the coming fair in Statesboro. He extended an invitation to the visitors there assembled—the editors of the district and the Savannah hosts—with their friends, to visit the fair. Mr. Moorehouse came back with the cordial assurance of an acceptance of the invitations for Savannah.

Even this was not the final ending of the "perfect day," the closing feature of which was a visit to the new and popular Lucas Theatre, where all the visitors were invited guests of their Savannah hosts.

Among the guests were T. A. J. Majors, Clayton; L. A. Atkins, Statesboro; Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Moore, Springfield; Herman I. Golders, Fitzgerald; Miss Evelyn Reid, Abbeville; Miss Louise Whitworth, Abbeville; Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Turner and Miss Annie Laurie Turner, of Statesboro; Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Martin, Hinesville; Miss Caroline Ryan, Hinesville; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Golders, Fitzgerald; Col. Sam W. Wilkes, publicist agent Georgia Railway, Atlanta; L. K. Starr, manager publicity relations department Georgia Railway, Atlanta; G. S. Chapman, Sandersville; L. K. Jenkins, Alma; W. E. Boatright, Swainsboro; W. L. Sullivan, Waynesboro; Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Rountree, Wrightsville; Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Price and Miss Virginia Polhill, Price, Louisville.

In the party from the Tri-State Exposition, Board of Trade and Savannah Motor Club were Oscar S. Kulman, A. W. Moorehouse, Mayor Paul E. Seabrook, Gordon Souay, Stephen N. Harris, Arthur W. Spelman, E. C. Daniels, Charles P. Rowland, George W. Hunt, E. B. Walker, William H. Robertson, George K. Peters, R. L. Cooper, Carl Mendel, John Santa, Charles Wilkins, George Elton, Col. T. W. Altstetter, W. S. Rankin, W. R. Neil, E. D. Hood, J. D. McCartney, James C. Brown, J. E. Freese, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Sullivan, D. A. Byck, Enoch I. Hendry, George M. Dixon, George R. Herbert, C. J. Hunter, Thomas Gamble, J. A. Merriam, N. P. Stephens, Thomas Parsa, Maj. Gilbert R. Cook, Capt. R. R. Tourtellot, Capt. E. B. Wisner and Lieut. E. J. Bond of Fort Screven.

Leaving the hotel, the city itinerary was begun, beginning at the foot of Bull street, where steamers were taken for the first leg, which was to end at Tybee. Two steamers were used for the party, one carrying the ladies and the other the gentlemen. The steamer trip included an inspection of the river front, which was indeed an interesting revelation to the country members of the party. At Fort Screven the river trip ended, the party landed and were for an hour guests of officers at the fort during target practice and drill exercises. Taking cars to the southern end of the island, a shore dinner was served at Hotel Tybee. Fort Screven band rendered music during the meal, and a brief program of speaking followed. Oscar Kulman, general chairman of the occasion, divided honors with Alderman Gordon Souay, of Savannah, and Alderman Steve Harr of Savannah and Tybee, in presiding. Speeches were made by a number of newspaper men, including Editor Roy Neal of the Morning News, Editor W. G. Sullivan, of the Savannah Press, and Editor Chas. Rountree of the Georgia State Press Association, and Capt. Clemison of Fort Screven.

The return to the city was made in automobiles, and led by way of the new million-dollar Tybee road through Thunderbolt, Isle of Hope and the many interesting suburbs in Savannah, terminating at the DeSoto Hotel, where, at 7 o'clock, the eating fest was brought to a close in the little room where a most delightful dinner was served. Cornelius Moore directed the affairs and another short program of talking followed. Besides Mr. Moore, others who responded were President Moorehouse of the exposition company, Editor Sullivan of the Press, President Rountree of the Press Association, J. D. McCartney of the Central of Georgia Railway, Gordon Chapman of the Sanderville Progress, and D. G. Bickers, the sweet singer of the Morning News who made the visitors an affectionate "good night." Lewis Atkins, secretary of the Bulloch County Fair Association, was present and responded happily to the opportunity to speak in behalf of the coming fair in Statesboro. He extended an invitation to the visitors there assembled—the editors of the district and the Savannah hosts—with their friends, to visit the fair. Mr. Moorehouse came back with the cordial assurance of an acceptance of the invitations for Savannah.
